Crankshaft dealer service guide

Proposal draft, October 2026. Crankshaft is the company. Listing Tuner is the listing and media service within Crankshaft. Dealer account owners approve final facts, media and routing rules. This draft is not a signed offer.

What we do

Crankshaft improves inventory presentation and makes inbound interest more useful to the sales floor. Listing Tuner rewrites descriptions from dealer-verified facts, puts real vehicle photos in a clear order with modest truthful adjustments, and produces clips from footage the dealer supplies. Jev helps select candidate video moments; a human editor renders and checks each clip. On inbound calls, our verifier answers, asks focused questions, checks vehicle availability, qualifies intent, enriches the record after qualification and transfers the caller to the right available salesperson. We log the outcome and send an approved summary to the dealer's CRM.

Plans proposed for pilot validation

	Launch	Growth	Scale
Monthly fee	$795	$1,295	$1,995
Active vehicles	30	60	100
New/rebuilt listings per month	20	40	70
Edited clips from supplied footage	10	25	50
AI verifier minutes included	750	1,500	2,500

There are no separate voice-minute, token or verifier-decision charges. The dashboard shows included AI minutes with alerts and a proposed plan upgrade as usage rises. If capacity is reached without an upgrade, new callers use the agreed human or callback route; calls are not silently dropped. International, premium-rate and outbound campaign traffic requires a separately agreed scope. A $495 ten-vehicle pilot is credited toward month one if a plan begins within 30 days. Connector setup that requires vendor fees or certification is separately scoped.

What the dealer provides

Authorized inventory feed or export; rights to photos and footage; stock/price/availability authority; mandatory fee, title, warranty and condition disclosures; access to the existing publishing route and CRM; approved greeting/consent text; on-duty roster and backup number; and a person who can sign off on listings and call policy. The dealer keeps ownership of its accounts, phone numbers, inventory, prices and sales process. Crankshaft never changes a dealer's asking price independently.

Review and acceptance

We provide a versioned draft and side-by-side media review. Any unverified fact becomes a question rather than a claim. Dealer approval precedes publication through an authorized path. A listing is complete when the approved content is accepted and the live output is checked. A qualified call is counted only under the dealer-approved decision rules; a transfer is successful only when an agent answers or accepts it. Reports distinguish answered, qualified, transferred, missed transfer and follow-up needed.

Expected limitations

Marketplace and DMS access depends on each vendor and dealer subscription. Some updates require a manual portal step. A listing or call service cannot guarantee ranking, lead volume, appointments or sales. The sample gallery is internal research using third-party listing thumbnails, not dealer-authorized production work. Voice, video and integration details are implemented only after the dealer-specific setup and pilot tests.
