Crankshaft dealer service guide

Proposal draft, October 2026. Crankshaft is the company. Listing Tuner is the listing and media service within Crankshaft. Dealer account owners approve final facts, media and routing rules. This draft is not a signed offer.

What we do

Listing Tuner writes from dealer-supplied facts, polishes real vehicle photos and cuts clips from supplied footage. We highlight positives without known false statements or fabricated vehicle imagery; Jev may select moments for editor review. Crankshaft's verifier answers, qualifies and routes calls to salespeople. The dealer portal holds the roster and records received calls, attempted routes and the agent who answered. Approved lead summaries go to a connected CRM or CSV.

Plans proposed for pilot validation

	Launch	Growth	Scale
Monthly fee	$795	$1,295	$1,995
Active vehicles	30	60	100
New/rebuilt listings per month	20	40	70
Edited clips from supplied footage	10	25	50
AI verifier minutes included	750	1,500	2,500

There are no separate voice-minute, token or verifier-decision charges. The dashboard shows included minutes and upgrade alerts. At capacity, new callers use the agreed human or callback route. International, premium-rate and outbound campaigns require separate scope. A $495 ten-vehicle pilot is credited toward month one if a plan begins within 30 days. Vendor fees or certification are separately scoped.

What the dealer provides

The dealer selects its inventory and CRM products in Crankshaft, authorizes supported API/feed or website automation routes, and supplies media rights, current stock/price, condition/options and disclosure instructions, a call script, staff roster, fallback route and approver. CSV remains available. The dealer owns its accounts, numbers, prices and sales process; Crankshaft does not change an asking price independently.

Review and acceptance

We provide a versioned draft and side-by-side media review. Dealer statements govern condition and options; invented facts and direct conflicts are flagged. Dealer approval precedes authorized publication, followed by a live check. Calls are qualified under dealer-approved rules. A transfer succeeds when an agent answers or accepts it. Reports distinguish answered, qualified, transferred, missed transfer and follow-up needed.

Expected limitations

Marketplace/DMS access depends on subscriptions and site rules. Automation can help submit supported listings; some require dealer login or review. Ranking, leads, appointments and sales are not guaranteed. The sample gallery uses third-party thumbnails for research, not production. Setup and pilot tests confirm the voice, video and connection details.
